

Public Lecture

HUANG SHENG YUAN

YILAN, TAIWAN

Huang Sheng-Yuan, a Taiwanese Architect, firmly believes in the root of architecture that lies deeply within life itself, and life's truest form is not one of static and tangible qualities, but of dynamic and ephemeral, constantly in change. As a result, such an acute perception itself has led a direction that is rather ambiguous and whimsical in nature, making Huang and his later established Field Office's works one of a kind in the architecture realm.
