

KRVIA postgraduate department presents five-part webinar series "We the People- Caring for our Heritage" 8 August-5 September 2020, 4 pm IST.

For decades now a holistic approach for the conservation of cultural heritage has been demanded. Not just including people as stakeholders but a people-centred approach as a whole. Since heritage is a contributing factor for the wellbeing of society there is a strong need for people to be more involved in the decision making process. The shift from an expert-led approach of conservation professionals to all-inclusive community engagement is the need of the hour. This engagement should also include nature-culture partnership and should explore interrelationships between nature-culture-people, promote inclusiveness and support diversity. The people-centred approach should also consider sustainable development goals for the future of urban historic centres and cultural landscapes. This webinar shall discuss various aspects of people and heritage.

No registration required. Open event for all to attend. Link for the said webinar will be shared 2 days prior to the assigned date.
